Testimonials

Reiki, translated from Japanese as "Universal Life Force", is quickly becoming one of the most popular alternative healing modalities in the world. Already used in clinics, private practices and hospitals around the globe, people are waking up to the amazing benefits that Reiki can provide.

Developed as a healing art in early 20th century Japan, Reiki is a holistic, non-invasive technique that heals on all levels of body, mind and spirit. In addition it can enhance other modalities of healing, both traditional and alternative, alleviate pain and has been proven to reduce stress in both humans and animals.

Reiki for Horses, LTL, Hill Top Farm, Ilton, Masham, North Yorkshire

March 8th, 10am - 5pm

One of Reiki's most effective uses is in the healing of horses. Horses, and animals in general, are great clients for energy work because they don't have any preconceived notions or skepticism that often get in the way of human receptivity. An animal is simply present to the experience. If it likes it, it likes it and if it doesn't it leaves: Simple as that.

We have found that most horses love Reiki. They will quite often relax into the healing session, lower their heads, keeping a leg cocked in a relaxed position and even close their eyes as they enjoy the sensation. Many times you can even hear their stomachs gurgle as the healing energy flows through them, clearing energy blocks as it goes. And when they have had enough, they will often let you know by "waking up" and sometimes even walking away.

During the workshop you will learn how to:

- Ask for "permission" from your animal companions
- Set up a safe Reiki session
- Scan your horse's body
- Locate chakras
- Listen to your horse and read his body gestures
- Recognize the duration of sessions
- Liaise with friends & clients
- Share Reiki experiences and stories

Remember that Reiki is not intended to be a substitute for Western medicine and a vet should always be notified in cases of illness and concern. But it is a powerful tool and can assist on many levels of healing.

Join Anna for this very special day as she shows you the most effective way to apply your Reiki skills the the horse. This is also a great opportunity to review your skills if you are a little rusty or maybe feel like you need a little more instruction. Improve your skill set, increase your confidence, and heal some horses!

Minimum of Reiki I Certification required. For further information contact: Sarah Kreutzer at info@learningto.listen.co.uk, www.learningtolisten.co.uk or call Tel: 01765 689368.

Space is limited. Contact Sarah for further details and to reserve your space today.
